

Test Description: Remote Community COVID Emergency Wireless Trial

Version: 1.1 | Date of issue: 31 March 2022

This document contains content proposed to be included in a Test Agreement. This version is not executable and is not a Standard Form of Access Agreement for the purposes of Part XIC of the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Cth).

Background

- The devastating effects of the COVID-19 pandemic continue to be felt across Australia, particularly for those in rural and remote parts of the country, with majority indigenous population, where there is limited availability of terrestrial and mobile broadband coverage.
- For some communities in these locations that are currently impacted by public health orders and COVID-19 related restrictions, technologies such as satellite and wireless can provide much needed emergency support.
- nbn is seeking to trial the use of an emergency service with wireless and satellite segments at a limited number of Premises within a single community area nominated by nbn.
- nbn proposes that any benefits that become clear as a result of this Test will be taken into account in future product development that caters to, but is not necessarily limited to, serving remote parts of Australia and Indigenous communities. nbn intends to include such learnings in future consultations with industry on similar support models that may be proposed for rural and remote areas, including for the purposes of disaster resiliency.
